

JÂCA CULTURAL EXCHANGE PROGRAM (JCEP)

Music with Meaning

Jâca aims to share culture from one locale to the next and to support underserved musical communities worldwide by donating 100% of profits from all JCEP sales.

How it Works

We accumulate direct donations, fundraise through the sale of cultural items from our travels, and devote a percentage of all Jâca merchandise to the JCEP fund. Each year, we spotlight an underprivileged musical community in need of financial support and work with them to determine the best way to disperse these funds. When you contribute to JCEP: you are not just buying merchandise, you are learning about the people of another culture while helping an underserved community gain better access to the arts.

What can I do?

- Donate
- Purchase a cultural product from communities that Jâca has shared cultural exchange with. Every product has a story. We bring items from one performance locale to the next as a way to share culture from community to community. These items are available in person post-concert and online, with 100% of profits directed to JCEP.
- Purchase Jâca Merchandise. 10% of profits on all Jâca merchandise are directed to the JCEP fund.
